We will keep most things you tell us in this service confidential. That means we will not tell anyone outside this service what you tell us without your permission.

However we must (by Law) inform authorities and share information with them if you tell us you are at risk or putting yourself, or someone else at risk, of serious harm or abuse (including emotional, physical or sexual abuse).

Where possible we will tell you of our concerns and take you through the procedure of what will happen next. Ask any member of staff you have come to see to explain.
